Letter of the prefect of the Congregation for the Oriental Churches

1 March 2017
Ash Wednesday

Your Excellency,

The Lenten Journey, which we are travelling, invites us to raise our eyes to the goal: we are following Our Lord Jesus Christ first to Golgotha and then, having descended with Him into the tomb, to experience the ever new and life-giving power of His Resurrection. The Holy Places of our faith are eloquent witnesses of this extraordinary event, which has changed the course of history and opened up a new hope for humanity.

From those places, the Easter proclamation has spread throughout the world, and it continues to spread. A Christian community has remained in those regions down through the centuries, even at the cost of great sacrifice and martyrdom. Since the first Pentecost, it has bravely shown the universal face of the Church to the world.

Our sense of communion in the suffering and risen Christ moves us again this year to undertake the important initiative that is the Collection for the Holy Land. Indeed, this effort manifests the bond of brotherhood that unites the universal Church to the Mother Church of Jerusalem, as the Holy Father has indicated. On the occasion of the Assembly of Organizations for Aid to the Oriental Churches (ROACO), on June 16, 2016, while referring to the ongoing restoration of the Basilica of the Nativity in Bethlehem and the Shrine of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, Pope Francis recalled the value, not only of the presence of the Church in the Holy Land, but also of the “[maintenance of] the holy places and shrines, also with the help of the yearly Good Friday Collection providently instituted by Blessed Paul VI”. Thanks to the generosity of so many, including non-Catholics, the restoration of these two sites, which are the common heritage of Christianity, is proceeding with remarkable results.

Today, as we know, living the Christian faith in the Middle East is not at all easy. Especially in Iraq, Syria and Egypt, where Christian communities have experienced an “ecumenism of blood”, individuals are daily pressured to abandon their land, or even their faith. Nor does freedom reign in the other countries of the region, where Christians are often subjected to forms of oppression and discrimination that undermine their living conditions.

Keeping hope alive in such circumstances is both difficult and vitally important. Consequently, the small Christian presence in the Middle East has great need of the support and attention of the entire Church. Constant prayer is the first and greatest assistance they seek. Also required, however, is concrete economic aid, taking into account what St. Paul wrote at the time of the first collection for Jerusalem: “Each one must do as he has made up his mind, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver” (2 Corinthians 9:7).

Once again, from every part of the Church, expressions of solidarity come together effectively in the Good Friday Collection. This enables the Catholic communities of the Holy Land – the Latin Patriarchal Diocese of Jerusalem, the Franciscan Custody and other jurisdictions, especially Eastern ones (Greek-Melkite, Coptic, Maronite, Syrian, Chaldean, Armenian) along with religious communities and organizations of all kinds – to help, in their turn, the poor and suffering of every ethnicity and every faith, without distinction.

Parishes will continue their pastoral service with preferential attention to the poor. Schools will enable Christians and Muslims to prepare together a future of respect and partnership. Hospitals and clinics, hospices and community centres will continue to host the suffering and the needy, refugees and asylum-seekers, people of all ages and religions hit by the horrors of war. The unforgettable faces of thousands of children and teens, fleeing violence and persecution in Syria and Iraq, continue to challenge us, even as these young people, thanks to our Collection, are being welcomed by Christian schools in neighbouring countries.

The pilgrimage, which is an important element of the vitality of the Church in the Holy Land, is an initiative always to be promoted. A journey to the Sacred Places in the footsteps of Christ can not only lead the pilgrim to a revival of his faith and a rediscovery of his origins, but it can also serve as a powerful instrument in the New Evangelization. In addition, pilgrimages are an essential resource for the Christian population of the Holy Land. In fact, according to recent statistics, at least 30% of the local community – in Jerusalem and in Bethlehem – live and work thanks to the presence of pilgrims.

As we prepare for Easter, let us renew our commitment to becoming artisans of peace, praying and working that peace may dwell in the heart of every person, especially of our brothers and sisters of the Holy Land and the Middle East.

To you, and to the priests, consecrated men and women and to the Faithful, who are helping to insure the success of the Collection, I have the joy of conveying the sincere gratitude of the Holy Father Francis, together with that of the Congregation for Eastern Churches. Finally, as I invoke on behalf of you, your pastoral ministry and all the faithful of your jurisdiction abundant divine blessings, I send you wishes for a very Happy Easter and my most fraternal greetings in the Lord Jesus.

Leonardo Cardinal Sandri
Prefect

The "pro Terra Sancta" CollectionCONGREGATION FOR THE ORIENTAL CHURCHES
Year 2015-2016Introduction

The Collection for the Holy Land originated in the wish of the Popes maintain the strong bond between all Christians throughout the World and the Holy Places. The Collection, which is traditionally gathered on Good Friday, is the main source for the support of the life of the Holy Places; it is also the instrument that the Church has provided to enable her to accompany the ecclesial communities of the Middle East. In more recent times, Pope Paul VI, through the Apostolic Exhortation "Nobis in Animo" (25 March 1974) gave a strong impetus to work in favour of the Holy Land.

The Custody, through the Collection, can support and continue the important mission to which it is called: safeguarding the Holy Places, the stones of memory, and promoting the Christian presence, the living stones of the Holy Land, through many activities of solidarity, such as the maintenance of pastoral, educational, welfare, health and social structures.

The territories which benefit from various forms of support from the Collection are the following: Jerusalem, Palestine, Israel, Jordan, Cyprus, Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Ethiopia, Eritrea, Turkey, Iran and Iraq.

Usually the Custody of the Holy Land receives the greater part of the proceeds of the Collection, while the remainder is used by the Congregation for the Oriental Churches for the formation of candidates to the priesthood, support for the clergy, school activities, cultural formation, and subsidies to various ecclesiastical circumscriptions in the Middle East.

The following is a summary of what the Congregation received in the year 2015-2016, and how it was distributed:

Around 300 students benefit from scholarships, residing in seven colleges under the auspices of the Dicastery.

In addition, the Dicastery contributes to the support of the Pontifical Oriental Institute, a higher academic institution with two faculties, Oriental Ecclesiastical Sciences and Oriental Canon Law, of which the Cardinal Prefect is the Grand Chancellor.

Subsidies for school activities

The Patriarchal Diocese of Jerusalem, the Franciscan Custody, the Oriental Churches of the Holy Land and the Religious Institutes are engaged in the scholastic education of young people in the Holy Land. Considering the particular circumstances in which Christian students find themselves, as well as the arrival in the Holy Land of thousands of school-age children from Syria and Iraq, the Congregation for the Oriental Churches has decided to increase the sum of subsidies in the year 2016-2017.

Of note, too, is the work of the Secretariat for Solidarity in the coordination and disbursement of subsidies to the school institutions managed by the aforementioned institutions.

One of the prestigious foundations that ensures academic formation is Bethlehem University. Almost 3000 young people, mostly Palestinian Muslims, receive an intellectual and human education with the hope of engaging in the building of a country where mutual respect prevails and where human dignity is preserved. The De La Salle Brothers make an appreciable effort in guiding the University.

Extraordinary and Emergency Subsidies

The situation created as a result of the human folly and atrocities of the so-called Islamic State has forced many Christians to leave their countries, especially in Syria and Iraq. The Congregation is particularly attentive to the needs of the Christians who have remained in these countries, and at the same time guarantees the necessary means for a dignified life for those who have sought refuge in neighbouring countries such as Lebanon and Jordan. Furthermore, it also provides for the promotion of cultural and spiritual activities which in some way bring people closer, despite religious and ethnic differences.

Extraordinary subsidy in Iraq, particularly for refugees	US$ 71,000.00 + € 8,854.00

Extraordinary subsidies for cultural collaboration	US$ 50,000.00

Conclusion

It may be observed that the expenses exceed the Collection, and therefore greater cooperation and generous effort is required of Christians all over the world for their brothers and sisters in the Holy Land and the Middle East. The question the Lord posed to Cain: "Where is your brother?" should challenge us, on our Lenten journey, to open our eyes and heart in favour of our brothers in need.

Joint Press Release with the Custody of the Holy Land on the contribution of the Holy See to the restoration of the Basilica of the Nativity in Bethlehem and the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem

The Custody of the Holy Land is pleased to announce that the Holy See has offered a contribution of 500,000 dollars for the restoration project being carried out in the Basilica of the Nativity in Bethlehem. As noted, an important part of the restorations has already been achieved, and it is to be hoped that, in agreement with the interested communities, the project may soon be completed.

The Holy See wishes to contribute as well to the restoration of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, and to that end has allocated a corresponding amount of 500,000 for the new phase of the work, which will concern the area surrounding the Aedicule of the Holy Sepulchre. This second contribution will be dispensed after the communities named in the Status Quo have by common agreement constituted an appropriate Committee.

Both contributions are jointly granted by the Secretary of State and the Congregation for the Eastern Churches and will be made available through the Custody of the Holy Land.

Care and concern for these two Holy Places, which for centuries have nourished the faith of the Church and that of countless pilgrims, are a sign and expression of love for Christ Himself, such that "the face of the Church reflect visibly the light of Christ the Word Incarnate. He is our peace, and He is knocking at the door of our hearts" in the Middle East" (Pope Francis, Speech to the R.O.A.C.O., 16 June, 2016).
